Lumumba Back At Politicking

Soldiers Withdrawn From Around Home

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers holding Patrice Lumumba a prisoner in his residence were withdrawn today and the deposed premier went back to politicking.

There was no immediate explanation for the end of the four-day blockade that the Congo army's commander, Col. Joseph Mobutu, said would be maintained indefinitely. Mobutu had said the soldiers would arrest Lumumba if he dared leave his house.

Mobutu was at his own villa in Camp Leopold II celebrating his 30th birthday and not immediately available for explanations.

The Congolese army commander told newsmen Thursday he had no intention of fighting with the United Nations over the fate of Lumumba.

He thus overrode his own provisional government which had served an ultimatum on Tuesday that they would order Congolese soldiers to attack U.N. soldiers protecting Lumumba unless he was handed over for arrest. The U.N. Command rejected the ultimatum.

No Progress Reported in GE Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators make another try today to end the strike against the General Electric Co. by the International Union of Electrical Workers.

No progress was reported Thursday as mediators shuttled between both sides.

Rumors continued to circulate that the 8,700-member Schenectady, N. Y., Local 301, the IUE's largest was disillusioned with the walkout and would go back to work next week.

After a noisy IUE meeting Thursday, conflicting reports came from IUE President James B. Carey and Local 301 business agent Leo Jandrea.

Carey came out of the session to tell newsmen the Schenectady situation was solid.

Jandrea was noncommittal. Asked if his local was going back to work, he replied: "Not as the present time."

Ex-Turk Premier Goes on Trial

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP)—Former Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and ex-President Celal Bayar today went on trial for their lives, charged with a long list of grave crimes against the state.

On trial with Menderes, 61, and Bayar 76, were 16 ministers of Menderes' ousted Cabinet and 377 former members of Parliament from Menderes' disbanded Democratic party.

The defendants, held here since June, were rounded up after an armed forces coup May 27 that followed students' demonstrations protesting attempts by a government parliamentary committee to crush the opposition Republican Peoples party.

turned to Moscow after a 25-day visit that shook the world.

A massive contingent of New York police, drawn up to control pickets and prevent unauthorized access to the headquarters buildings, was withdrawn from First Avenue, abutting the U.N. area. Special U.N. passes required of U.N. personnel, reporters and even waitresses in the dining rooms were no longer needed to get into the tall secretariat building on the East River.

These measures and many more had been put into effect to protect chiefs of state who came for the opening of the 15th General Assembly—but mainly because of Khrushchev's presence.

The Soviet premier left behind the memory of a bully, a vulgar, a pile-driving debater, an expert propagandist and a Jekyll-and-Hyde who talked peace out of one side of his mouth and nuclear war out of the other.

He also was a badly beaten man, whipped on all but one of the great controversial issues that came to a vote in the General Assembly.

Clutching at straws before his departure Thursday night, Khrushchev claimed a "victory" on the single point in which the assembly went along with him—the unanimous agreement for a hearing, in plenary session, on his proposal to demand immediate independence for all colonies.

He boarded his giant Soviet turbo-prop plane at Idlewild Airport just before midnight. In his customary departure statement he said: "We are leaving in a good mood."

Khrushchev said there were signs "which allow us to hope for solutions of the major international problems through the United Nations organization, and through this session of the General Assembly."

Much of what followed echoed the positions he took on various issues while he was here.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Janos Kadar, Hungarian Communist party chief, accompanied Khrushchev on the 10-hour, nonstop flight.

The Soviet premier is scheduled to go to Communist North Korea soon. Observers generally believe he will visit Peiping as well for conferences with Mao Tse-tung, Chou En-lai and other top Chinese leaders.

His next major moves in the international arena, he indicated repeatedly at the United Nations will come after the presidential elections in the United States. He said he did not believe American officials could fully participate until then in "the question of questions" disarmament.

He proposed a special session of the U. N. General Assembly attended by chiefs of government—to consider disarmament alone—somewhere in Europe and early in 1961, after President Eisenhower has left office.

Khrushchev's last day in the assembly was typical of most of the others, a mixture of rocket-rattling and amiability.

He was on the rostrum three times.

He told the United States, "If you want war, you'll get war." He referred to "fools like (Secretary-General Dag) Hammarskjöld."

He accused President Eisenhower of lying and of being "on a leash" of American military leaders.

As for the Security Council, he said it was "worse than a spittoon—a cuspidor."

He also presented an omnibus proposal to combine his "general and complete disarmament" proposal with his demand that the office of secretary-general be replaced by a three-man commission. Otherwise, he said, the Soviets would not work in disarmament committee or in the assembly political committee's disarmament debate.

After which, he said farewell, adding that he hoped he hadn't offended anyone.

Thousands Greet Khrush in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev returned to the capital by plane today from the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

He was greeted by thousands, many of whom poured out on the airport highway and onto the airfield itself from trucks which carried them from their jobs and homes fully an hour earlier.

He arrived in the Soviet's biggest airplane, bringing with him Janos Kadar of Hungary and a number of other Soviet and Hungarian officials who had been at the U.N. session.

'Roving Envoy' Role for Ike?

Would Serve Nixon On Good Will Tours

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower has agreed to serve as a roving ambassador if Vice President Richard M. Nixon is elected, it was reported today.

The New York Herald Tribune and the New York Times carried the report in dispatches from Los Angeles, where Nixon is on a campaign tour.

A copyright story in the Herald Tribune by Roscoe Drummond said there soon will be an announcement of Eisenhower's willingness to serve in a Nixon administration.

The story said Eisenhower's role would be that of "roving ambassador to the world," and his first assignment would be a worldwide tour of some of the nation's principal allies and of the newly independent nations.

The Times story said Eisenhower has expressed willingness to "serve as a roving ambassador of good will" after he leaves the White House.

The Times quoted an unidentified top Nixon campaign aide as saying Eisenhower is "passionately devoted" to serving the cause of peace whether in or out of the White House.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked about the report, said in Washington that he had never heard anything about a roving ambassadorship and that he had no comment.

Chief Warns Of Swindlers

Police Chief Robert Temple today again reminded local residents not to be taken in by swindlers operating in this area.

Chief Temple said the swindlers usually pose as contractors, saying they are experts at painting roofs, repairing spouting, cleaning septic tanks and doing other types of work.

Temple urged home owners to have such work done only by local or reliable sources. He said the police department should be notified when strangers or suspicious persons seek these jobs.

Favorite targets of the swindlers are older people. Several elderly persons "have been taken" here in the past few years, the chief said.

Temple said these shady groups usually operate in the early spring and late fall. A quick phone call to police headquarters might help ease the situation, he added.

Laos To Pursue Neutralist Policy

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos told the United States today he will not change his neutralist policy and if the United States does not like it, he will have to seek assistance elsewhere.

The first Soviet ambassador to Laos, Alexander Abramov, arrived in Vientiane Thursday. He said he would say something about aid as soon as he presents his credentials to King Savang Vathana.

The Soviet Union is expected to offer ruble credits to Souvanna's hard-pressed government in an effort to gain a foothold in this strategic, hitherto pro-American kingdom.

Cuban Resigns U.N. Delegation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of Cuba's delegates to the United Nations turned against Prime Minister Fidel Castro today almost at the exact hour the United States was unleashing an attack on him in the United Nations.

The U.N. delegate, Miss Teresa Casuso, quit her post with the charge that Castro is making Cuba into a police state. She said Castro "has to be at war with everybody."

The United States filed with the United Nations a 9,000-word reply to Castro's 4½-hour speech last month to the General Assembly. The State Department depicted Castro as a tyrant who is seeking to provoke an incident over the Guantanamo naval base. It said Castro is welcoming Communist intervention and trying to undermine the inter-American system of collective security and progress.

These developments came a day after Castro's firing squads had shot 13 men, including an American, on charges of attempting to overthrow his regime.

These executions led to violence in Miami, Fla., less than an hour by plane from Havana. Angry Cubans swarmed through the office of Castro's consul general, Abelardo Leon Blanco, gave him a beating and smashed furniture. Today Castro told the consul to return home. Outside a Miami cafe where Castro sympathizers often gather there was a shooting leaving two men wounded.

In New York police announced the arrest of a man sought in the slaying of a Venezuelan girl during a clash which occurred when Castro visited the United Nations. The FBI has described the man, Francisco Molina, as the leader of a group that intimidated Cubans opposing Castro.

At home, Castro's regime moved toward complete state control.

Tuohy again Urges C&O, B&O Merger

CLEVELAND (AP)—Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, made a new appeal today to shareholders of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

C&O and the New York Central system have made rival offers for B&O stock. However, New York Central and B&O managements have reached tentative agreement on merger and studies toward carrying out that merger are being conducted.

In a letter mailed today to B&O shareholders, Tuohy said more than one-fourth of all B&O common shares and more than one-third of all B&O preferred shares already have been "voted" in favor of accepting the C&O offer.

"Inclusion of NYC in the B&O C&O association has been suggested," the letter stated. "Our answer has been that C&O's financial strength and earning power will allow a B&O-C&O tie, but adding NYC at this time would be more than C&O's strength could carry."

Both Sides Claim Victory in Debate

Dispute over Notes A 'Shocking' Affair

By ARTHUR EDSON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What a remarkable campaign this has turned into.

Away with the big, complex, tedious issues.

Our presidential candidates can not even agree on whether they had an agreement that no previously prepared notes should be brought along for a big television debate.

And, by the way, what is a note anyway?

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon is shocked. And Sen. John F. Kennedy seems shocked that Nixon is shocked.

To explain this properly, step with me into the American Broadcasting Co. studio, and we'll set the scene as it looked here Thursday before the two met in the third round of their TV debate.

All is quiet.

Out of camera range Nixon is talking with a technical adviser, and trying to relax.

Kennedy is 3,000 miles away in New York. Suddenly he is picked up on the monitor in the studio here.

Horrors, are those papers in front of him? He seems to have dropped one, and is busily retrieving it.

But before you can say Quemo or even Matsu, the show has begun—and, as it turns out, so has the argument.

This keeping the candidates a continent apart seemed to work out all right, especially for Nixon.

Since Nixon is, as he puts it, "a heavy sweater," the broadcasting studio was kept at 58 degrees.

Furthermore, it develops that Nixon likes to jab his opponent without having to look him in the eye. He reminded reporters that in Washington last week he carefully avoided looking at Kennedy.

Incidentally, if it seemed to you that Nixon was on camera more than Kennedy, you're right. Some broadcasting statistician reported that Kennedy talked for 20 minutes and 8 seconds while Nixon had 21 minutes, 8 seconds. The moderator and panelists used up the rest.

Ike Celebrates 70th Birthday, Looks Forward to Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower is a record-breaking 70 today—the first man ever to serve to that age as President of the United States.

Happy birthday greetings flooded in from around the world, and the District of Columbia government invited the President's neighbors from the entire Washington area to a midday party at the White House lawn.

Officials predicted quite a turnout.

During the afternoon the President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to travel to their farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for a family observance of his birth anniversary. On hand for dinner there will be his four grandchildren and their parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

On Monday Eisenhower, who has traveled hundreds of thousands of miles in this country and abroad as President, will be off on another long tour—a nine-day, 6,728-mile trip will take him coast to coast.

Eisenhower became the oldest man ever to serve as president 11 days ago, on Oct. 3. At that time he broke a record which had been held by another old soldier, Andrew Jackson, who was 69 years, 11 months and 19 days old when he completed his term as president.

The President turned to baseball jargon when he was asked at a recent news conference how he managed to maintain such apparent good health after a heart attack, surgery for ileitis and a minor stroke since 1955, and despite the burdens of the presidency.

"I believe it's a tradition in baseball," Eisenhower laughed, "that when a pitcher has a no-

'Sea Cucumber' Considered as Shark Repellent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy hopes research on a poison given off by the "sea cucumber" fish will lead to an improved shark repellent, it was reported today.

The sea cucumber, a marine creature related to the rear-fish that gets its name from its cucumber shape, secretes a toxic substance called "holothurin" to protect itself from its natural enemies.

The chemical is under investigation, spokesmen for the Office of Naval Research told a reporter, not only as a possible shark repellent but also as something that may prove of value in medicine.

They talked about it in amplifying on a brief report on the research in the current issue of Naval Research Review.

They stressed, however, that it remains to be determined whether the chemical is safe for use in man as a medicine—or as a shark repellent that could be released by skin divers and others in the water.

Candidates Bark At Each Other On Many Issues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide-ranging third television argument found the two major presidential candidates agreed today on only two subjects: defending Berlin and condemning religious bigotry.

Separated by the width of the continent but brought to a single screen, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy flailed at each other Thursday night on the issues of war and peace, how to stop national emergency strikes, the state of American prestige and the cost of farm programs.

Both sides thought they had won.

Nixon called the encounter "good, fast-moving, a good clash."

Kennedy told reporters: "I thought we touched on important matters that are at issue in the campaign."

One of their sharpest disagreements was over defense of Quemoy and Matsu, two small islands garrisoned by Nationalist China but located within a few miles of the Red Chinese mainland. The issue has mushroomed since their second debate a week ago.

Both agreed the islands should not be yielded under threat of Communist guns. But Kennedy, who has urged efforts to get a Chinese Nationalist withdrawal from the islands, said Nixon was going further than the Eisenhower administration in advocating defense of them.

Nixon contended that withdrawal would damage this country in the eyes of Asia, and said Kennedy's position would encourage the Reds to push to the point "where war is inevitable."

That brought a Kennedy charge that Nixon was distorting the record.

The din was hardly over before Nixon launched a couple of new barbed shafts at his Democratic opponent.

The vice president said he was "shocked" that Kennedy had referred to written material in the third of their TV debates. Nixon said there was an agreement neither would resort to memoranda.

The Republican nominee also challenged in a statement Kennedy's denial that he had advocated compulsory arbitration as one of the methods of settling a strike such as the paralyzing steel walkout that ended last January.

Kennedy fired back that he hadn't used any notes. He said he read from a photo copy of a letter from President Eisenhower which he contended undermined Nixon's position that the islands of Quemoy and Matsu off China must be defended from Communist attack as a matter of principle.

"If I'm going to quote the President of the United States on a matter involving national security he should be quoted accurately," Kennedy said.

Nixon's post-debate statement on labor disputes followed up Kennedy's TV assertion that "I never suggested that compulsory arbitration was the solution for national emergency disputes."

Nixon contended that at Fayette City, Pa., on Oct. 9, 1959, Kennedy had urged that the President be given a variety of powers for settling labor disputes and had added: "These measures should include mediation, fact-finding, seizure, compulsory arbitration, injunctions with or without retroactive clauses and the right not to interfere at all."

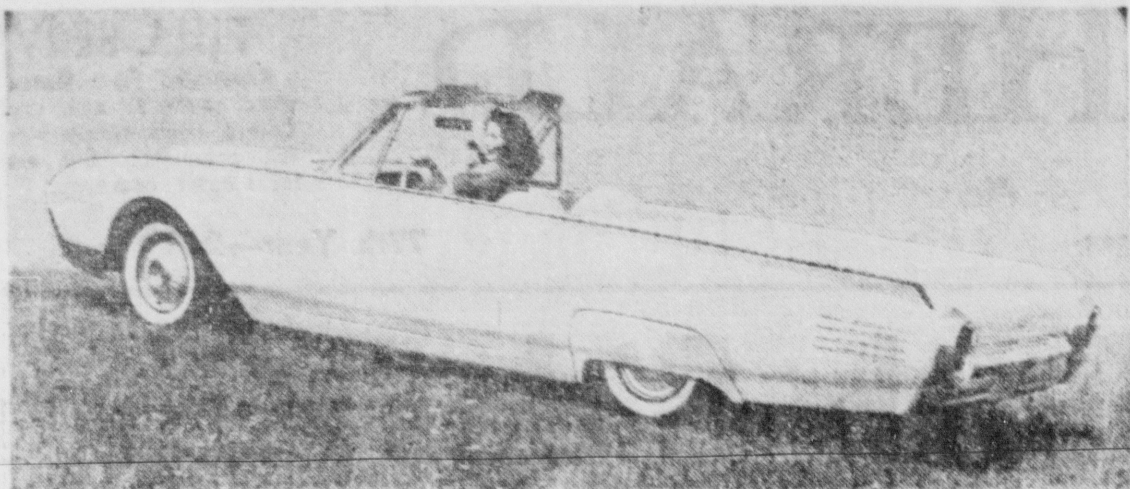

Kennedy's press aide, Pierre Salinger, said that a speech draft including the words compulsory arbitration was given out by mistake, that Kennedy "spotted this, and we pulled back all the copies we could get our hands on." He said Kennedy did not use the reference in his speech.

In Thursday night's telecast Kennedy spoke from a New York studio as a panel of reporters directed questions alternately at each nominee.

Nixon found in Los Angeles the kind of lighting and makeup that delighted his supporters.

The issue of Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion was brought into

Re-Indexing Deed Records Is Completed

Title searching has been cut to a fraction of what it used to be in the Pickaway County Recorder's Office.

Through the "above and beyond the call of duty" efforts of Florence T. Campbell, County Recorder, and Florence Betts, Deputy, the 150-year library of deed records have been re-indexed and copied into a handy set of three volumes.

The re-indexing project was necessary for two reasons: the preservation of indexes, which date back to 1810; and an eventual replacement of old and tattered records. The re-indexing has made the searching for titles simpler by replacing the old seven volumes with three typewritten volumes.

The project involved checking page-by-page 117 volumes, approximately 60,000 instruments. Data gathered was placed on cards and eventually alphabetically and chronologically put into index form.

The Circleville Police Department's new radar device is ready for full operation, Chief Robert Temple announced today.

Chief Temple said the unit has been thoroughly tested and is in perfect working condition. He said no arrests have been made yet with the device, but added that the unit will be utilized for this purpose starting Monday.

He said the radar will be used much of the time in school zones. He said the device already has detected considerable speeding in these areas.

Candidates Bark

the debate for the first time. A reporter quoted Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, New York Negro congressman, as saying that, "The Ku Klux Klan is riding again in this campaign" in opposition to Kennedy.

The newsmen said Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, a Roman Catholic, was saying much the same thing. DiSalle said he was not quoted correctly. He merely reported, he said, that the head of the Klan had said he would vote for Nixon.

Kennedy said he had seen a similar report. He said he didn't suggest in any way that the vice president has any sympathy with or involvement with the Klan. "That is absurd," Kennedy said. "I don't suggest that. I don't support it. I would disagree with it." Nixon, a Quaker, said he welcomed the chance to join Kennedy in repudiating the Klan or anybody who uses the religious issue. In Tampa, Fla., W. J. Griffin, head of the state Klan said: "I don't give a damn what Nixon said. I'm still voting for him."

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spot check of voters across the country indicated today that neither presidential candidate has forged ahead on the strength of his showing in three television debates.

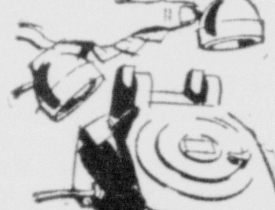

After Thursday night's debate, the third between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Associated Press bureaus in 10 cities sampled the opinions of viewers and found little difference in their estimates of the two candidates' influence.

About the same number thought Kennedy had gained the most from the debates as thought Nixon had.

The survey was made by AP newsmen in Little Rock, Baltimore, Miami, Newark, Denver, San Diego, St. Louis, Detroit, Milwaukee and New Haven.

Dollar's Value, Profits Linked In World Trade

Balance of Payments
May Be Vague Matter,
But It Is Important

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate profits and confidence in the value of the dollar would seem to be the most unlikely of bedmates. But so intimately do the economies of nations live together these days that even the profit squeeze in this land is something to be considered in the cross pull of world trade competition and in striking a balance between world currencies. Or in any dangerous flight of gold from the U. S. Treasury.

Balance of international payments may seem a vague proposition to most Americans. But the value of their dollar and the effect that a change in world confidence in it might have on its value is something they do understand. And many fret, if only confusedly, over the loss of gold in the last three years.

Almost everyone agrees that the health of the U. S. Treasury plays a vital part in the world's confidence in the health of the dollar.

That's where corporate profits come in. If they hold as high as the Treasury hopes, it can end this fiscal year next June 30 with a surplus. If business profits — and tax collections from them — slip badly, it couldn't.

People don't worry about their deposits in a bank when they know the banker can lay his hands on the money to back them. The United States has been the world's banker since World War II. A healthy fiscal situation here breeds confidence in Uncle Sam as a world banker, even when his balance of payments is in a cycle of deficit — so long as the downswing doesn't last too long.

Our balance of payment deficits in the last three years means that the total outflow of dollars abroad — for imports, for foreign aid, for overseas business investments, for travel, for military establishments — has exceeded the money we took in by selling our exports, by profits on foreign investments, by selling services.

As a result of the buildup of dollars in foreign hands we have $5 billion less in gold now than 10 years ago and the short-term dollar assets held by foreign governments and individuals and international banking institutions tops our roughly $18.5 billion of gold.

It is possible — but supremely unlikely — that gold would be demanded for all of the dollar assets held by others.

But if confidence in the value of dollar assets slips, enough gold could be demanded to be embarrassing.

Hamburger Invades Britain

In what some persons consider the ultimate example of the Americanization of Europe, the hamburger has captured Britain. Starting in London and spreading rapidly throughout the rest of the British Isles, the lowly American hamburger has managed to thrust its way into the exclusive company of chips, sausage, tea and cakes.

London now has more than 60 hamburger stands, with more being started. They have even spread to Scotland, although fishburgers seem to have a stronger attraction there than do hamburgers with grilled onions.

"A number of our early customers regarded the hamburger as nothing but a bit of sausage in a bun," reported on concessionaire. "But once they got over the idea that it was American they went for it straight-away." This shows what the power of the palate can do.

Who knows what influence the maligned hamburger might wield in diplomatic circles if a worldwide chain of burger stands were established?

True Appraisal of a Man

NEW YORK (AP)—It is said you can tell a man by his library.

But this assumes he has read the books in his library. Often he hasn't.

A truer appraisal in most cases, probably, is that you can tell by a man's library what he aspires to be—if he only had time.

Most men's libraries aren't made up of the books they have read and treasured. They are made up of the books they intend to read someday—some day when there isn't something more pressing to do.

To be literate a man doesn't have to read a large number of books. He needs only to know a few choice books well, and to increase his understanding by re-reading them.

Even three books can produce a well-stocked mind. These books are the dictionary, the Bible, and a collection of Shakespeare's works. No one who knows those three books well is less learned than he who has skimmed 10,000 other books.

A man's reading taste is usually a prisoner of his age. In youth he prefers romantic fiction, but as he grows older he likes to read factual material because life has taught him there is nothing more romantic than the truth, or more novel.

The trouble with a library is that if you have a really good book it somehow gets away from you. You either lend it deliberately or someone borrows it by his own choice, but in either case it rarely comes back home. It travels from hand to hand and mind to mind until it is worn out.

Every man's library is an index of his postponed reading pleasures.

Those row after row of dust-

catching books aren't there just to awe the neighbors. He really means to get around to reading them some time when he has more leisure than he has now.

Everyone has his own favorite unread book. I have two in my library.

One is called "How to Raise a Dog in the Suburbs." Since I live in a city apartment where only cats and mute parakeets are allowed as pets, I haven't got around to reading this important book. But I still keep it handy for an emergency.

My other favorite unread book is entitled "How to Retire Before 40."

It is already 10 years too late for me to find anything except an antiquarian interest in this volume.

What's the favorite unread book in your library?

Stimson Just Like Eaton

Henry L. Stimson was a Republican who served in Herbert Hoover's and Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinets. The name is fairly forgotten nowadays but in his time Stimson had an excellent reputation as a lawyer and statesman although he was a rather dull person.

I met him on his way to and from the Philippines when he stopped off at Shanghai, and found him rather stuffy about things oriental without too much knowledge.

The "Saturday Review" recently published a memorandum which Henry L. Stimson addressed to President Truman. To the editor of the "Saturday Review" this memorandum exhibits unusual presence. The editor of the "Saturday Review" was invited to Cyrus Eaton's luncheon for Khrushchev and attended a reception given by Khrushchev.

True, Stimson foresaw that the Russians would ultimately be able to manufacture bombs. So he wrote a memorandum on Sept. 11, 1945.

Actually there was no reason why they should not. The work of most of the Swedish, German, Italian and American scientists was pretty well documented in scientific literature. The Smythe Report was already available in some form. The Rosenbergs and Dr. Klaus Fuchs had already stolen the American bomb. The Canadian spy report was undoubtedly available to him.

Stimson wrote:

"The chief lesson I have learned in a long life is that the only way you can make a man trustworthy is to trust him; and the surest way to make him untrustworthy is to distrust him and show your distrust."

Of course, that is why banks insist upon bonding their cashiers and tellers. Trusting folks is a most worthy attitude; however, if the most trusted person blows his top and steals the funds of a bank or a firm, many innocent persons suffer.

Stimson was a lawyer, albeit he never associated with lesser criminals in his particular practice. Surely, he knew of such people as Ivar Krueger and he must have heard the distant rumblings of the 1929 stock market and it must, at some time or other, have come to him that the most trustworthy folks do the most trustworthy things now and then, and that some of them even get caught at it.

The point that Stimson tried to make in his learned memorandum — which the editor of the "Saturday Review" says "that history has vindicated his stand" — was that we should trust Soviet Russia.

History has established it beyond that Soviet Russia cannot be trusted; that Soviet Russia violates treaties and agreements without conscience; that Khrushchev, in particular, is a liar and a bully; and an utterly untrustworthy person. Stimson, of course, did not know about Khrushchev, but he did know of our numerous difficulties with Soviet Russia from 1933 to 1945.

In a world that Stimson wanted us to do was this:

"My idea of an approach to the Soviets would be a direct proposal after discussion with the British that we would be prepared in effect to enter an arrangement with the Russians, the general purpose of which would be to control and limit the use of the atomic bomb as an instrument of war and so far possible to direct and encourage the development of atomic power for peaceful and humanitarian purposes.

"Such an approach might more specifically lead to the proposal that we would stop work on the further improvement, or manufacture of the bomb as a military weapon, provided the Russians and the British would agree to do likewise. It might also provide that we would be willing to impound what bombs we now have in the United States provided the Russians and the British would agree with us that in no event will they or we use a bomb as an instrument of war unless all three use it."

At that time, the British were not making atomic bombs and it is difficult to understand why Stimson included them in this picture at all, except that he, as an Anglophile, always subordinated American policy to Great Britain.

Stimson says nothing about international inspection or control. He wanted, in 1945, to trust the Russians. And the editor of the "Saturday Review" in August 1960 apparently still wants us to trust the Russians.

This is the spirit of Pugwash which is where Cyrus Eaton holds conference to decide how to subordinate American to Russian interests.

Dear Editor:

"In the last two letters it appears that the writers are in favor of such 'eye-sores.' I noticed, too, that both of them live in Williamsport where they have long been exposed to this condition. In all probability they have built up a kind of immunity against it through the years.

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither lighting nor makeup could conceal Thursday night that the two men campaigning for the presidency of the United States looked tired.

Actually, their fatigue seemed to show even more in their voices than in their faces during their third debate.

Although the questions ranged widely through the issues of the campaign, both the panel of questioners and candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy devoted the major part of their joint session to hashing and reshaping their respective positions on Quemoy and Matsu.

Both men were, as usual, deadly serious, careful in their statements and thoroughly prepared as to their positions. The joint discussion—with Nixon and the panel in Los Angeles and Kennedy in New York, was a smooth miracle of electronics. ABC, which produced the program, had been thinking of doing some tricky transcontinental camera work but settled for concentrating on the faces of the speakers. Once there was a split screen picture showing both candidates at the same time and once there was a brief picture of Kennedy listening intently to his opponent. But that was all.

By and large, the third round went off very well indeed.

Close to a year ago when revelations of fixed quiz shows and payola were in the headlines, it was pretty obvious that something had to be done about what Madison avenue called television's "tarnished image." One thing that was done was to set up, under the National Association of Broadcasters, the Television Information Office. It has been busily pointing out all the good things TV is doing in an effort to counter criticism of its violence, trashy shows, poor taste, irksome commercials.

Its most ambitious effort was unveiled today at the NAB's fall conference in Atlanta. It is 288-page book describing more than 1,000 programs and series in the public affairs area which have been dreamed up and broadcast—at the local level—by 262 stations. The idea is to provide broadcasters with a source of ideas. They range from discussion programs on politics, traffic, business declines—to adult education programs.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

One Gal's Opinion

DEAR ABBY: My sister is going to a Halloween party and she is dreaming up a costume. She wants to go as a Greek Goddess or an Oriental High Priestess. I told her I didn't think it was right to go dressed up as one of these. I asked her how she would like it if she were in a foreign country and one of the kids came dressed up like a Catholic priest or a Baptist minister. She said she never thought of it that way. My mother said to stop arguing and to write to you.

OLDER SISTER
DEAR SISTER: There is nothing disrespectful about masquerading as a "Greek Goddess" or an "Oriental High Priestess". You are exceptionally kind to consider the possibilities of sacrifice.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think married men who attend college should be required to wear wedding bands? A college girl has no way of knowing whether a guy is married or not. Most men in college who are married act the least married and this makes it harder yet.

CAROLYN
DEAR CAROLYN: A wedding ring around a man's finger doesn't always stop his circulation. You can't legislate fidelity.

DEAR ABBY: The children in the Sixth Grade are taking dancing lessons at school this year. As a result they are starting to give dancing parties at home. At these parties they play "spin the bottle" and "post office" (they go in the clothes closets to kiss). Some parents think no party is complete without kissing games. Should we allow such games? We had a big discussion about this and are divided in our opinions. Are parents out of line in permitting it? I'd like to hear how parents in other communities handle this problem with Sixth Graders. And, as a mother of a teen-aged boy and girl, how do you feel about it, Abby?

SHOO KUP MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Kissing, inspired by a feeling of genuine and mutual affection, is perfectly all right. But games that encourage kissing merely for the sake of kissing (at any age) destroy the real purpose of a kiss. Rely on the Law of Nature — not the Law of chance; and why rush things?

Ebenezer Circle To Meet Tuesday

The October meeting of the Ebenezer Social Circle will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Miss Ethel Kiger, Route 1.

Gibbs Celebrate Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. O. F. Gibbs 326 E. Main St., were honored on their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary recently at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Max Skinner, 525 Elm Ave.

The table was highlighted with a Fall centerpiece with matching candles.

Dinner was served to the Rev. and Mrs. O. F. Gibbs, honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Mathew and family, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Williams and family, Granville; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Eccard Jr., Miss Jacqueline Gibbs, Mr. James Gregory, Misses Joan, Susan, Patty and Betty Gibbs, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Skinner, host and hostess and family.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Roy McMurray who are presently at Moscow, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbs New Lexington, were unable to attend.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gard, 236 E. Franklin St., will be hosts to Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Goddard, San Pierre, Ind., during the Pumpkin Show.

House - guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Terry, 826 Atwater Ave., are Mr. and Mrs. O. C. West, Hinsdale, Ill., former Pickaway County residents. Mr. and Mrs. Terry also will visit her brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dumm, S. Court St.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dumm, Amanda; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dumm, Kingston.

Guild 30 To Meet

Members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 30 will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Harry Wright, Route 1. Mrs. Jessie Wilson will be assistant hostess.

Eastern Star Past Matrons, Past Patrons Honored Here

Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Circleville Chapter No. 90, order of the Eastern Star, were honored when members and guests met for a regular meeting in the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening.

As each member and guest arrived, they were given miniature gavel as pin-ons, representing the authority which the worthy matron has over her chapter.

Visitors were Mrs. Marvina Rader and Mrs. Audrie Ross, worthy matron, of Waverly Chapter No. 99. The worthy matron, Mrs. Gladys Shepler, had charge of the business meeting and paid tribute to all past matrons and past patrons present. They were Mrs. Mary E. Radcliffe, Miss Marie L. Hamilton, Mrs. Mildred I. Kuhn, Mrs. Chestora Peters, Mrs. Erma Sharp, Mrs. Garnet Reichelderfer, Mrs. Marcelyn Evans, Mrs. Geneva Brink, Mrs. Daisy Acord, Mrs. Hannah Noecker, Miss Martha Warner, Mrs. Muriel Reichelderfer, Mrs. Faye Mahaffey and past patrons, Kenneth Shepler, Walden Reichelderfer, Earl Hilyard and Clifton Mahaffey.

A gift was presented by the present worthy patron, Mr. Kenneth Shepler, to each past matron and past patron present.

A duet was rendered by Mrs. Elaine Bowman and Mrs. Elizabeth Dunkel accompanied by Mrs. Chestora Peters.

The worthy matron announced that the next meeting would be held November 8th. At this meeting the auditing report and trustees reports will be due. This also will be the election of officers. There will not be a meeting on October 25th due to Grand Chapter Session being held in Cleveland October 25, 26 and 27.

The local chapter will sponsor the stock sale dinner on November 2nd.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, members and guests were entertained by a group of students from Jackson Twp.

'Every Pirate is a Hero' In Danny Murtaugh's Book

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, the smiling Irishman who led the Pittsburgh Pirates to their first world baseball championship in 35 years, says "every Pirate is a hero."

The usually tight-lipped Pittsburgh manager had no difficulty lavishing praise on all his players Thursday after Bill Mazeroski's sensational leadoff home run in the bottom of the ninth gave the Buccos a 10-9 victory over the New York Yankees in the deciding game of the World Series.

"What a terrific way to win the series," chuckled Murtaugh. "It was just typical of my ball club — a fighting ball club all the way. There are no particular heroes to me — every Pirate is a hero."

"When Bill Mazeroski hit that ball in the ninth I doubted just for a moment that it would go over the wall. When Yogi Berra (Yankee left fielder) stopped I knew we had the World Series and my one thought was — I'd like to kiss my wife."

Wringing wet and hemmed in by newsmen in the turbulent Pirate club house, Murtaugh told of his thoughts in the seconds it took for Mazeroski's homer to clear the wall.

"I thought Berra had a chance to get the ball," he said. "But that thought was in mind just a fraction of a second. Everyone stood up on the bench, and I don't even remember who was beside me. I couldn't get to Mazeroski at all."

Thursday was the highlight of Danny Murtaugh's baseball career. Murtaugh, now 43, began his career in 1937 when he landed a job as second baseman for Cambridge in the Eastern Shore League. He later played with the Phillies until he went into the Army.

After the war, he played second base for the Pirates in 1948-49-50 — pretty sparse years for the Buccos.

He took his first shot at managing in 1952 when he piloted New Orleans of the Southern Association. After three years at New Orleans, he moved in 1955 to Charleston, W. Va., of the American Association — again in a managerial role.

In 1956, Murtaugh moved up to the Pirates as a coach. He was named manager in the middle of the 1957 season after Bobby Bragan was fired.

Taylor High Star Still Awaiting Court's Decision

CINCINNATI (AP)—It looks like Steve Pruitt won't get to play football tonight against Oak Hills. A juvenile court hearing Thursday failed to give him the green light. Judge Benjamin Schwartz set another hearing today in the matter.

Pruitt, 17, is an orphan who has been a standout lineman for Taylor. When his sister moved to Harrison, he decided to stay at Taylor living in a rooming house.

But the Ohio High School Athletic Association ruled he must follow his sister and play for Harrison or not at all.

W. J. McConnell of Columbus, association chief, said Thursday his group is willing to give the youth eligibility at Taylor if given a release by the Southwest Local school district board (Harrison). But a spokesman for the board said Pruitt only inquired about courses at Harrison and never enrolled, so the board has nothing to release.

National League pennant winners have won 100 or more games 17 times since 1900.

TO THE WINNER! — To the winner go the spoils, and, in this case, it is Pittsburgh Pirate hero Bill Mazeroski getting a champagne bath in the clubhouse after he walloped the home run that gave his team the world's championship.

Ideal Grid Weather Slated For CHS Homecoming Tonight

A fine evening for football is expected tonight when the Circleville Tigers and Hillsboro Indians clash on the CHS gridiron. "No rain," says the weatherman.

The spotlight will fall on Homecoming Queen Terry Trone and Attendants Mona Peters and Barbara Bell who will reign throughout the game.

The flag raising and introduction of the Queen and her court will start about 7:30 p. m. prior to the kickoff. An appearance by the CHS Marching Band will mark the beginning of the traditional evening.

The annual Homecoming will be directed by the Stogie Club. Fans are urged to come early to observe the proceedings.

SOME high-speed action is forecast on the gridiron as the CHS Tigers prepare to go full steam ahead in an effort to break a two-game losing streak.

Hillsboro, cut short by a three-game loss span, will have ideas similar to those of the Tigers. The Indians also haven't forgotten a 49-14 lacing administered by CHS last season.

Coaches Carl Benhase, Dick Fisher, Jack Weikert and John Adler said the Tigers appear to be ready physically, although End Jake Bailey suffered an ankle sprain in practice last night.

Yankees' Stafford Faces Army Service

ATHENS, N. Y. (AP) — Yankee pitcher Bill Stafford will be inducted into the Army Sunday at Ft. Knox, Ky., his father said Thursday night.

The 22-year-old rookie hurler signed up last month for six months of active duty, followed by service in the Army reserve.

OU Bobcats Retain First Spot Among Small College Elevens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio University's Bobcats walloped Boston University for their fourth straight victory and maintained their position today as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press' small college football ratings.

The second and third teams of a week ago, Lenoir Rhyne and Lehigh, also won Saturday and held their rankings but there was a considerable shake up in the ranks below.

Massachusetts, Texas A & I, San Francisco State and Western Illinois all were beaten and dropped out of the top ten.

The newcomers are Mississippi Southern, 16-0 conquerors of Trinity of Texas; Chattanooga which gained prestige in losing 10-0 to potent Auburn of the Southeastern Conference; Humboldt State, which beat San Francisco's 13-game victory streak; and Southern Illinois, which whipped Western Illinois 21-12, snapping Western's winning skein at 15.

Chattanooga (3-1) was the only beaten team in the top ten. The teams were picked by an AP board of experts, made up of one man in each of the NCAA's eight districts.

The top teams, with first place votes and won-lost-tied records in parentheses (points on 10 for first, 9 for second, etc. basis):

1. Ohio U. (2) (4-0) 52
2. Lenoir Rhyne (2) (4-0) 44
3. Lehigh (0) (3-0) 33
4. Miss. Southern (1) (3-0) 27
5. Whitworth (0) (4-0) 26
6. Chattanooga (2) (3-1) 23
7. Humboldt St. (0) (4-0) 20
8. Southern Ill. (0) (4-0) 18
9. Muskingum (0) (3-0) 16
10. Florida A & M (0) (3-0) 15

Other leaders included Bucknell (1), San Francisco State, Fresno State Idaho State, Tufts, Bowling Green, New Mexico State, Connecticut, Louisiana Tech, Massachusetts, Langston (Okla.), West Chester (Pa.), and Southern Illinois.

1. Card of Thanks

Words can never express our gratitude for the kindness extended to us during the illness and after the death of our beloved husband and father the late George F. Davis. The generous words of the Rev. Gibbs, the efficient services of Dr. Moore and the Mader Funeral Home were greatly appreciated. To our many neighbors, friends and relatives for the beautiful flowers and other expressions of sympathy we are deeply grateful. Also it is a consolation to have a place of eternal rest at Floral Hills Memorial. Everything has been deeply appreciated by his widow and family.

Bob Newhart, $40-a-week Man Last Year, Now Blooming Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A year or so ago, Bob Newhart was a $40-a-week accountant with a knack for adding up figures wrong. "It was the petty cash that bugged me," he recalls. "At the end of the day, it would come out $1.50 short, so I'd put in the amount from my own pocket. They tried to tell me I couldn't do that, but it seemed better than spending three hours trying to find the mistake."

Today, Newhart is well on his way to a blooming fortune and finds himself president of a cor- poration, the principal asset of which is himself.

"It's somewhat staggering," he admits.

Newhart is 31, medium-sized, sandy - haired, pleasant-looking, well cast as an accountant. He broke out of that casting to score a hit with his album, "The But-toned-Down Mind." He is the first comedy star to be created by records.

Newhart is here for a date at the Crescendo and to talk movie and TV deals. He discussed his rise to fame with an accountant's sense of detachment.

Newhart didn't come by his per- forming ability overnight, of course. A Chicago boy, he dabbled in summer stock, mostly as a character comedian. He and a friend tried to syndicate a series of comedy spots for radio, an en- terprise that lost him $200.

Between such enterprises he took accounting jobs. The radio spots attracted the attention of disc jockey Dan Sorkin, with whom he did a daytime TV show. Net result of six months' labor: four fan letters—"and two of them asked where they could buy the sponsor's product."

But Sorkin introduced New- hart's work to Warner Brothers Records and the deal was made for the album. The comedian made a solid hit on this year's Emmy show and has been playing night clubs ever since. But he hates them because of drunk hecklers and plans to devote him- self to playing college concerts and TV.

Milk Price Up, Down
CLEVELAND (AP)—North- eastern Ohio dairy farmers will receive $4.41 a hundredweight for 3.5 per cent butterfat milk shipped in September, W. W. Hurwitz, fed- eral milk market administrator, announced Thursday. The price is up 11 cents from August, but is six cents less than a year ago.

Cornerstone Laid
CLEVELAND (AP)—The corner- stone of a $900,000 dormitory to house 216 men students was laid Thursday at Baldwin-Wallace Col- lege.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Offi- cial Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

High pressure over the north- eastern states blocked normal eastward movement of the weath- er front, resulting in another clear and unseasonably warm night over Ohio.

Early morning temperatures were in the 50s. Cleveland had 54, Columbus 52, Cincinnati 57.

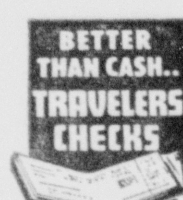

Southerly winds will continue the warm weather today, and while some cloudiness is expect- ed, the day will be dry.

Showers and thundershowers are associated with a weather front extending from upper Michigan to western Oklahoma this morning. As the front moves slowly east- ward, the showers are expected to reach the western portion of the state tonight and continuing on Saturday.

A little cooler weather will reach the state Sunday.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION...

a "do-it-yourself" project that's really paying off!

REA loans have enabled groups of rural people like us to build our own electric power lines, and have paid off in many ways for others, too. For in- stance, we all live better today because farmers, with the help of electricity, have tripled output per-hour-of-labor in the last 25 years!

When the Rural Electrification Administration was created in 1935, each farm worker was producing for ten people. Today, with fewer farmers, he supplies food and fiber for 25. By 1975 he'll be called on to feed 50! And he'll do it!

Electrification of rural America has attracted industry into the country, while it opened up a brand new market for makers of electrical appliances and equipment. This year alone, more than 4,500,000 farm families will spend over $1-billion for things electrical. This means more jobs, better jobs in towns and cities, too.

Truly, rural electrification has been good for all Americans!
